

Bruce St. Clair

...has been teaching here at the KSOA for many years now. A true Master, Bruce is always coming up with new and creative ideas for advancing your skills in a multitude of dry and wet media, his bio:

Since studying at OCA, Bruce St. Clair has been painting professionally for nearly 50 years, being represented by Toronto galleries until he and his family moved to Scotland in 1999. For some 30 years he has taught drawing and painting courses, most recently at Loyalist College, the Kingston School of Art and the Kingston Senior's Centre since moving to the Belleville area from North Bay, where he taught at Canadore College. He was artist-in-residence there from 1986-87, and at the MacDonald Stewart Art Centre, University of Guelph, in 1981.

A gold medal winner for Realism in an international competition in Italy in 1983, he won the People's Choice Award in the Kingston Arts Council's 2014 juried show for his watercolour Three Gables, again in the Quinte Arts Council's Expressions 2015 show for his acrylic painting Bailey's Blanket and again in the 2016 None Such Art of Paper Awards, again for Three Gables.
