

Bio Margaret Brackley

Margaret is originally from Montreal where as a young girl she was inspired to paint by her amazing 7th grade Art teacher Carol Spandau. After moving to Ajax, she began taking local workshops to reignite that passion she discovered from her teacher.

Currently living in Kingston, Ontario, Margaret works mostly from her home studio. She enjoys working in watercolours, acrylics, and mixed media. These days she works mostly with the vibrant Alcohol Ink that she also offers classes in.

Her paintings are inspired by her love of animals, flowers and through her travels. She paints the moments taken often through husband's lens that tells a story and captures the beauty in nature.

She is an active member of several Art groups and participates in numerous shows both indoor and outdoor throughout the year.

Margaret also makes beautiful one of a kind jewellery. Her pieces are all handcrafted and the gemstones are all personally selected to ensure the best quality and effects. Her collection includes necklace sets, earrings and bracelets.
