

Kingston School of Art – Instructor Biography

Nancy Steele

Nancy Steele started her art career at the Nova Scotia College of Art and Design. She feels that her many years working in sculptural jewellery has informed her painting practices of today. Nancy's studies in drama at Queen's University and her academic career in teaching in Corrections has also influenced how she approaches her plein air or studio painting subjects.

Nancy continues to study portrait and figurative painting at the Academy of Realist Art in Toronto and with Daniel Hughes in Kingston. Both this year and last she received Honourable Mention at the KSOA's annual Juried Exhibition.
